THE PROPOSAL

CONVERT 380 ACRES OF GREENWICH FARMLAND INTO A COMMERCIALIZED ZONE

KISS GOODBYE to a broad green expanse of 380 acres of productive farmland stretching all the way from Wolfville's western border to Highway 101 on the north and the Cornwallis River on the south.

KISS GOODBYE to the Wolfville we all know and love: a lovely, little and quiet, self-contained valley town bordered by rolling hills and farm fields stretching to blue sky and sea.

KISS HELLO to relentless noise and traffic that comes with living in the embrace of a development zone open to widescale commercial, industrial and residential sprawl.

KISS HELLO to paying up to $54 million in additional taxes to finance all the infrastructure needed to make life easy for the developers including:

- $14 M for a collector road that will link to Skyway Drive in Wolfville and to the collector road that links Highway 1 and Highway 101 in Greenwich;
- $20 to $40 M for more than 4 miles of sewage lines, pumping stations and new sewage treatment plants.

KISS HELLO to using our tax dollars to fund these developers dreams and schemes.
